2. On 13 March 1985, I coordinated an Intelligence Community briefing for the Commission covering Soviet CW production and stockpile, delivery and protective capabilities, force structure, training, R&D, and policy and doctrine. We also covered instances of Soviet CW use and the issue of CW proliferation. I wrote a memo to you recently on the reactions to this briefing [Redacted]

4. The Commission's original target date for a report was 1 April. This was not a realistic possibility and the new target date is evidently now 1 June. I also understand that Commission members plan to testify before Congress in late April as part of the Defense Appropriations debate.

5. As background I am attaching at Tab D the text of my opening statement at the 13 March briefing. This summarizes the Community view on CW deterrence and related topics.
